As soon as you hire staff, questions and problems about the employment relationship arise almost every day. These begin even from initiation of an employment contract and often end only long after termination of the employment relationship. A prompt, fast and targeted response to labor law issues, even during an ongoing employment relationship, is one of the greatest challenges faced by employers and managers.

CUSTOMISED IN-HOUSE WORKSHOP

So that you can be optimally prepared and trained for precisely these situations, our specialist experts offer in-house workshops. These workshops are tailored to your personal requirements and can be designed freely and individually to suit you.

Benefit from our expertise in labor law! From 20 labor law modules, choose five topics that are relevant for you: our experts will provide comprehensive advice and training in an individual, in-house workshop.

Completely individual design of your workshop
